All States Ag Parts Expands Into Skid Steer Parts

All States Ag Parts, the nation's leading supplier of used, new and rebuilt parts for tractors, combines and other ag parts, has expanded again. Their used parts line now includes a complete selection of used skid steer parts to complement their already growing new and rebuilt skid steer parts.

Located at their Lake Mills, Iowa facility, the skid steer salvage operation is done entirely indoors. This operation is unlike the company's seven tractor and combine salvage yards located throughout the Midwest that utilize large acreage outdoor operations. Since becoming operational this past spring, the facility in Lake Mills has dismantled dozens of skid steers and boasts of an inventory that can fill most part needs. Once a machine is dismantled, the parts are cleaned and inspected for defects and wear. Once a part passes the inspection, it is added to inventory and is immediately ready to ship anywhere in the world.

All States Ag Parts is dismantling all makes and models of skid steers including

New Holland, Deere, Bobcat, Mustang, Cat, Kubota, Gehl and others.

"Skid steers are more commonly found on farms than ever before. We want to serve all of our customer's part needs so we've expanded into that area. The plan is to offer used parts at 50 to 70 percent off the OEM parts just as we do with our used tractor parts", said John Dyke, CEO of All States Ag Parts.

Remanufactured Engines Now Available At All States Ag Parts

A shortage of used running engines in some of the more popular sizes caused All States Ag Parts to look for other ways to take care of those customer's needs.

"We saw that we had some used engines that we just couldn't keep in stock due to the high demand. We also knew we had the same engines in tractors that were not running but were perfect for our remanufacturing facility to rebuild to the original specifications", said Dyke.

After building a custom engine shop within their Lake Mills, Iowa facility and hiring some engine remanufacturing technicians, All States is producing several remanufactured engines per week. The line is focused on engines for John Deere equipment, but also includes engines for Massey Ferguson, Ford, Case, Case IH, International, Gleaner and Bobcat.

All States Ag Parts also carries remanufactured bare engine blocks for those customers that want to build their own engines.

Warranty

All States Ag Parts offers an industry-leading 1-year warranty on all parts. This includes used parts and remanufactured engines. Engines are warrantied for 1-year regardless of the number of hours used.
